My Dear Sabina

Though I have no news to tell you yet

I intend to write ^{a little} to you every day, and I hope that now and then you will write to me. Though I know you have a great deal to do yet I think you will have time to write a little. One thing I have to say which is this June and Dr Farnsworth come down in the stage from Groton on Saturday we were very much surprised to see them, for we did not expect them till Monday. Dr Farnsworth was here this morning, and he said that there is another Slave-case. He says that a coloured man got on board one of the vessels that were there one of our vessels, he went on board and hid himself under the wood. He filled his pockets full of bread and cheese and he let no one know he was there and they had got to Cape Cod before any one knew he was there. Then the Captain a New-England man took him and chained him and chained his arms behind him, but the sailors could not stand that so they chained him with his hands before and they came into Boston and the Coloured people set him out. But the Captain had put him in prison on pretence of his payment of 25 dollars for his passage. So Samuel Sewall went and served out a writ of Habeas Corpus and took the man, and he has him. And the Captain has got to take it for putting the man in prison and his passage is only worth five or six dollars! Isnt this good?

Maria is very busy in making a report of the annual doings of the society, and of the escape of the two slaves the last is beautiful I have not seen the former. Mrs Ford and Dr Favenport are going to the West Thursday, and so poor Mary Anne is to be left all alone.
Wednesday 5th. What wet rainy day I have thought of you a great deal to day, and I hope somebody drove you to school. we had no school to day for only one person come. I suppose that Caroline told you that we had an application from a young ladie from the South, but she has not come yet. We have met with quite a loss Garrison has been and taken all his ~~extra~~ furniture but we do very well. Why dont you write home often you deserve to be talked to. I have written to Sophia Davenport. I was asking the other day what time you would be home and was very much surprised to find it was so soon, I think you had better come to Boston first. Emmons is at W. and has grown to be quite a wild ingr Caroline is going to bring her in town.
Thursday 6th. A very pleasant but a very cold day. Henry come up here to night and brought a letter from Hervey, he has been rather poorly and had the tooth-ache all the time he was there but he wrote in a Post office script that he had had his tooth out. you will notice the mistake that I have made, but you would not wonder for the disappointed man is here that is Mr Bigelow. I suppose Anne told you about it if she did not, I am bound to secrecy and will tell you when I see you, I intend to make a bold stroke and send this letter with Anne's to the post-office. I think that we shall have a sewing-circle here soon we are endeavouring to hold the first meeting on Saturday. I don't like it near so well as I should have done if it was to be called a Society, but the Southwick's have not faith enough to believe that we could keep it up and they had rather a sewing-circle would go down than a Society, so we are to proceed along little after the fairs, and then if we ~~think~~^{think} we can keep it up we will form it into a Society. I expect to have a capital time at the annual meeting of the Ladies Society. Garrison is to speak at the 21st. Anne is gone out to Roxbury to spend the night.

She is going to Newmouth tomorrow, Poper is coming in town tomorrow and he will take her out. The southern young lady has come here again and says that if she goes any to school in town she shall come here, but she is going a journey and then she will come here. She will probably be gone a month or more.
Lucretia is here now, and though she is no help yet she is a much pleasanter than I expected. Henry Benson is about the same as he was they have not much hope of him, though he does not think so. Mr Blagden was installed the other day at Old South and the next Sunday he proceeded upon a Preacher's duty. Lorry is very, but I am actually afraid that Lorry will perish to death coming to school. That very riding day her mother came streaming up with thin shoes on and Lorry with her. I wish you would write to me every chance for I want to hear particularly. I am with great affection yours truly

Lidia Weston.
